Metas Adventist College has created an Ecosystem for Innovations and has Initiatives for Creation and Transfer of Knowledge

The institution has developed a strong ecosystem that promotes innovation, research culture, and effective transfer of knowledge among students and faculty. This ecosystem is supported through various academic, research, and industry-linked initiatives that encourage creativity, problem-solving, and entrepreneurship.

1. Promotion of Innovation and Research Culture

The institution actively promotes innovation through:

- Establishment of innovation and research committees
- Encouragement of faculty and students to undertake research projects
- Organization of seminars, workshops, and conferences
- Participation in innovation challenges and hackathons
- Motivation for publishing research papers in reputed journals

2. Support for Creation of Knowledge

The institution facilitates knowledge creation through:

- Project-based learning and experiential education
- Student research projects and dissertations
- Faculty research and consultancy activities
- Collaboration with academic and research organizations

3. Transfer of Knowledge Initiatives

Effective transfer of knowledge is ensured through:

- Guest lectures by industry experts and academicians
- Industrial visits and internships for practical exposure
- Faculty Development Programs (FDPs) and training workshops
- Seminars and conferences for knowledge sharing

4. Entrepreneurship and Skill Development

The institution encourages entrepreneurship through:

- Entrepreneurship Development Cell (EDC) activities
- Skill development programs and certificate courses
- Start-up awareness programs and innovation competitions
- Guidance for students on self-employment opportunities

5. Industry-Academia Collaboration

- Memorandums of Understanding (MoUs) with industries and organizations
- Internship opportunities and industrial training programs
- Joint workshops and consultancy projects
- Curriculum enrichment based on industry feedback

METAS ADVENTIST COLLEGE PRINCIPAL SURAT