A Report World Cancer Day

Date of event: 3rd February' 2023

Venue: Metas Adventist College & Surat Civil Cancer Hospital

Participants: 12 students of TY/SY/FY BBA, BCOM.

Organisers: VIVA CITY CLUB members:

1. Ms Miti B. Dhupia
2. Ms Vineeta Chopra
3. Ms Surabhi Suganthan
4. Ms Tushti Bakarania
5. Ms Tanvi Agarwal

INTRODUCTION:

World Cancer Day is observed worldwide on February 4. The aim is to inform and encourage people on its prevention, early detection, and treatment. This initiative was taken by the Union for International Cancer Control to campaign and advocate for the targets of the World Cancer Declaration, penned in 2008.

According to the World Health Organization, Cancer is one of the leading causes of death worldwide. The Union for International Cancer Control (UICC) was established in 1993. Based in Geneva, it is a membership-based society working towards the eradication of cancer around the world and advancing medical research. Under its direction, the first International Cancer Day was celebrated in Geneva, Switzerland in the same year. Several well-known organizations, cancer societies, and treatment centers also supported this initiative. World Cancer Day was made official at the first World Summit Against Cancer in 2000.

On this day, hundreds of events and fundraisers take place around the world each year, to bring individuals, communities, and organizations together in hospitals, schools, businesses, markets, community halls, parks, etc. to campaign and deliver the powerful reminder that those hit by cancer are not alone, and we all share a responsibility in reducing the global impact of this disease. Keeping up with the tradition, a "World Cancer Day Celebration" event was organized on 3th February 2023, at Metas Adventist College & Surat Civil Cancer Hospital in collaboration with Vivacity Club under its Community Welfare Activities. All the in charges were instrumental in planning and execution of the event.

Program Overview:

In the morning session event like street play was organized. The event was coordinated by club in charges. In this event the participants express the underlying social and political burning issues and a whole play executing and depicting causes, symptoms and effect of Cancer. The sheer motive of this street play was to create awareness amongst the students for cancer. It enabled students to analyze problems that we face in our society and day-to-day lives at the same time improve the life style and not to indulge into practices like drugs, alcoholism and smoking. The students performed a skit regarding the common risk factors, warning signs of cancer, common cancers in community and myths and taboos related to cancer. Total 14 students participated in the street play.

In the afternoon the club coordinators along with Mr Subhakar Parsad sir and 12 volunteers went for a visit to the Civil Cancer Hospital, Surat. This hospital in the city treats the cancer patients for free. There were approximately 300 in house patients in the hospital, who were kept into different wards of the hospital. The vivacity club members went to different wards and met the patients. Mr Subhakar Parsad sir offered prayers for the speedy recovery of the patients meanwhile the students distributed some eatables like fruits, cookies and juices to the patients and their relatives. The patients were thankful and felt hopeful with this kind gesture. The event was completed with success.

A Report on Eco Homes Visit

Date of event: 28th August'2022

Venue: Eco Homes, Vesu Gam Surat

Participants: 31 students of TY/SY BBA, BCOM

"College students as a community whose behavior and willingness to adopt environmentally sound policies will become a dominant force for sustainable environment in urban area."

Keeping this fact in mind, to create environmental awareness amongst college students Vivacity Club planned for an Eco Home visit of 31 college students from the college. Accompanying them were the faculty in charges: Khirod sir, Ms Miti B Dhupia, Ms Vineeta Chopra, Ms Tanvi Agarwal. The students assembled in the college premises at 9.30 a.m. on Sunday. By 10.45 the students along with the faculty in charges departed for the venue. After reaching the Eco Homes the students were given some directions by the volunteers of Nature's Club. An amount of 4800 was given as a donation to the nature's club. The guides of the nature's club accompanied the students to explain them about the sustainable living practices and how this beautiful house has adopted all of them.

All About Eco Homes

This ECO HOME is situated in Vesu Gam. The farm is owned by NATURE'S Club of Surat. Eco-Home in Surat built by Snehal Patel – There is no power connection, No water connection, No sewer connection in this house. His home is completely off-grid and has no water supply. Instead, it is powered by renewable energy sources like wind and solar energy, and his water needs are met by rainwater harvesting. Additionally, all the grey water is used in the toilets while black water is filtered and used to water the vegetable garden in the compound.

To reduce his carbon footprint, Snehal Patel decided to go off-grid. In the eco-home, a solar panel system with a capacity of 7.5 KW has been installed to meet the family's energy needs. Additionally, the water management system in the house is unique. Not only is it independent of water supply, but the efficient reuse of wastewater saves water. A water tank at the rooftop stores rainwater filtered with a cloth filter and this is used in taps in the kitchens and bathrooms. Once the rooftop water tank is full, the water flows down through a channel and connects to another tank on the ground floor, which can store two lakh litres. Before water reaches the storage tank, it is filtered through layers of gravel, sand, charcoal and a sieve.

After this tank is filled, there is an outlet for the extra water to be let out for groundwater recharge. The ground here is prepared with bricks, gravel and soil, to mimic the natural process. The house doesn't have any sewage connection and reuses water from the bathrooms (washbasins and bathing area). An effective root zone filtration system has been set up using sand and plants like hyacinths, duckweed, and water lettuce. These plants help in cleaning the water. These plants are harvested every month and added to the home garden as fertilizer while the water (that the hyacinth grows in) enters another tub where oxygen is added using a water umbrella and water lily plants.

There are also tiny guppy fish present in the tubs (used in the later stages) which prevent the breeding of mosquitoes, showing that the water is ready for gardening. The black water from the toilets goes into settling tanks. Once the solids settle down, the water is filtered and used for watering in the garden. And, the solid material is turned into compost. To use electricity efficiently, large windows let in ample light in the day and ventilate the house. Also, all the materials used are locally sourced stones and bricks, keeping the carbon footing through transportation at a minimum. The floors are made of Kota stones (as opposed to vitrified tiles) as they consume less energy while cutting and polishing. The wood used is all up cycled and bought from traders who source it from demolition sites. The walls, on the other hand, are unplastered and use no paint. A small pond with fish and aquatic plants within the house keep it cool. Further, the sloping roofs and the exhaust fans in each room help in pushing out hot air. The roofs are painted using special ceramic paints that keep the interiors almost 3-4 degrees cooler and reflect sunlight off the roof.

Event- "Best of Waste"

Club- "Spectrum Club" Date- 26th July, 2022

It's true that we live with lot of waste lying around us. It becomes the dutyof each individual to find a way to creatively transform it into a useful resource. This way we can reduce the burden of polluting our planet. We should do our part to foster awareness towards the deterringissues underlying the impact of waste and how we can build strategic means to create best out of waste. Recycling is the new norm to address such challengesand to counter the ill effects of waste mismanagement on our planet.

Higher Educational Institutions are the breeding grounds for such innovations and creativity. They provide a sustaining platform for students to exhibit their skills in a manner which can bring a new change that can make a difference. METAS ADVENTIST COLLEGE, Surat had taken such an initiative to facilitate the students to express their creativity in an effort to make the best use of waste found in our surroundings. The SPECTRUM CLUB had organized and conducted the event called 'Best of Waste' on 26th of July, 2022 at the 'Student Centre' in the college premises.

Lot of enthusiasm was witnessed among the students which translated into active participation. The event was flagged off at 11:00 AM with 29registered participantsfrom BBA and BCOM, jostling into this competitive event.

Students came up with amazing ideas to express their creativity. A variety of waste materials such as worn-out jute fabric, straws, dried leaves, dumped cardboard, metal scrap etc were utilized to transform them into beautiful useful things such as footwear, a photo frame, a decorative show piece, a cabinet holder and paper based art and craft. This effort of our talented students was blissfully appreciated by the management and faculty.

This event was adjudged by Ms NEHA CHHALANI, MBA. She is a Home Baker and Resin Artist.Each team's work was critically adjudged for First, Second and Third places.

"COMMUNITY WELFARE ACTIVITY"

Charity Drive

The meaning of CHARITY is generosity and helpfulness especially toward the needy or suffering; also: aid given to those in need. Students of our college work for the community in different ways-one of the way is to do a charity drive for needy people. For charity purpose there is a volunteer from each class who collects money for donation and based on the total count we approach different NGO's. We ask them about their necessities based on which provide them supplies of eatables, clothes, stationery and many more things. This year our college has organised 3 charity drive events.

3rd October 2022

On 3rd October 2022 we visited Gujarat State Network of People living with HIV/AIDS (GSNP+). Gujarat State Network of People Living with HIV/AIDS (GSNP+) is a community based non-profit making organization formed, by & for people living with HIV/AIDS. The organization is based on Surat and members are a blend of people with various socio-economic backgrounds. The fundamental principle guiding the work of GSNP+ is the centrality of PLHA (People Living with HIV/AIDS) in decision making process that affects their lives. GSNP+ also thrives to improve quality of life of people living with HIV/AIDS through various activities. Consequently GSNP+ is organized and managed by People living with HIV/AIDS. The organization advocates issues of People living with HIV/AIDS at State & District level through various networks. This place was girl's orphanage where there were approx 40 girls. Some of them were suffering from HIV and all their medications were taken care by L&T Company. Education of the girls is taken care by Reliance Company.
